Profile

I am a disciplined, easygoing person who excels in circumstances that need teamwork. I appreciate learning from my seniors and classmates, as well. I am eager to learn new things and fully comprehend everything related to them. Software engineering is an extremely competitive field of study. Being in the top 1% is very essential at AAIT. I got into this section not by chance, but because of my perseverance, consistency, and commitment. I continue to apply this discipline to everything I take part in. I am very interested in cyber security. Being a member of the A2SV program will provide me with the necessary basis to begin working in this competitive area. I was also a leader in my prior high school and am participating in the current initiatives I am working on at university, since I don't shy away from responsibilities. If you are willing to take a chance on me, you will discover firsthand how I will transform myself professionally while also growing my skills.

Sew Le Sew Charity Organization was founded by a strong woman in my hometown who renovated her entire home to accommodate the less fortunate people in our community. Everyone, from the elderly to children, has a place in her home. In my free time, I enjoyed serving the seniors and caring after the kids.
